Abstract

It introduces the Web-based user interface to the Designer Repository that allows business users to easily access repository information. It provides an overview of the Business Components for Java (BC4J) generator that reads models in the Designer repository and automatically generates BC4J components for Oracle9i JDeveloper. The presentation also looks at features planned for releases following Oracle9i Designer." Regards Sue Robert Wrembel wrote: Dear Sue, I'm just preparing conf. proceedings. I would appreciate if you could e-mail me just one or two pages abstract of your invited talk: "Oracle9i Designer: Where do we go from here?" It would be included in the conf. proceedings.
